On Tuesday, Nov. 9, more than 200 guests showed up to the glamorous Home of the Avenues, the expansive six-bedroom, 12,000-square-foot mansion in Bel Air Estates that is fascinatingly staged as a design showroom.

Guests were treated to a colorful buffet presentation from Executive Chefs James Overbaugh and Executive Sous Chef Anthony Raymond from The Peninsula Beverly Hills, while sipping specialty Bacardi Elite cocktails.

Haute Living was a proud sponsor of the special event, which provided guests with a sneak preview of the upcoming luxury home collections from Fendi Casa and Kenzo Maison. Other participating brands included Vertu Beverly Hills, Perrin of Paris, Empire CLS Chauffeured Services, who brought several automobiles from their luxury fleet, and Montblanc, who showcased their special-edition John Lennon pen and Nicolas Rieussec watch. ■
